My Homeschool Vision

How I Picture My Homeschool

What is my Homeschooling Style?

Classical

- Learning things in the right order is important.
- I want my kids to read and understand the Classics.
- I like being organized.
- I want to make sure I don't miss anything in my kids' education.
- Every single school subject is important. I want to be thorough.

Unit Studies

- I like the idea of learning really deeply about topics my kids are interested in.
- I want my kids to have a lot of say in what we learn about.
- I like being creative.
- Being organized is a plus, but not essential.
- It's important that our lessons are interesting and exciting.

Charlotte Mason

- It's important to me that my kids are well-rounded.
- I like the idea of studying nature and the world.
- I want my kids to read lots of books, but not text books so much.
- Curiosity is the most important part of being educated.
- I love reading biographies.

Traditional School Method

- I want my kids to have a public school experience at home.
- I prefer teaching from text books.
- My main goal is to have my kids re-enter the public school system.
- I am using an online charter school.
- Standardized tests are important to me.

My homeschooling style(s):

3 R's Curriculum By Homeschooling Style

Classical

- Draw Write Now series
- Explode the Code Series
- Saxon Math
- Spelling Connections
- Zaner Blosser Handwriting
- English From The Roots Up
- Shurley Grammar
- Grammar For Writing (High School level)

Charlotte Mason

- Right Start Math OR Math-U-See
- Delightful Reading
- Delightful Handwriting
- A Child's Copybook Reader
- Spelling Wisdom (beginning in Grade 4)
- Analytical Grammar (beginning around age 12)

Unit Studies

Most unit study homeschoolers still buy separate curriculum for math and grammar, since those things are taught concept by concept. Reading and writing would be directly related to your unit.

- Math-U-See, Saxon, Life of Fred
- Explode The Code
- Easy Grammar
- Phonics Pathways
- Wordly Wise

Traditional School

Traditional school homeschoolers usually purchase a boxed curriculum. Many areas also have online classes offered through local school districts or charter schools that align with the traditional school model.

- K12
- A Beka Academy (Christian based)
- Ambleside Online
- BJU Press

My Homeschool Wish List

“Don’t tell me the sky’s the limit when there are footprints on the moon.”

-Paul Brandt

Book Lists

“Books are the quietest and most constant of friends; they are the most accessible and wisest of counselors, and the most patient of teachers.”

-Charles W. Eliot
